Real Estate Reassessment Notices Coming in December

York County reassesses all real property once every two years, and the 2006 general reassessment of all real estate in York County will soon be completed. As you may have read in the newspapers and other publications, real property values in the area are increasing at a very high rate, and York County is no exception. The Board of Supervisors is keenly aware of the potential impact that increased values could have on the tax assessments. Due to the rapid increase in real estate property values, the Board has directed the County Administrator to prepare the proposed Fiscal Year 2007 budget with the maximum tax rate reduction possible while continuing to meet the County's current and future needs.

Notices will be mailed to property owners during the last week of December. This notice will contain the following information: Address, property owner's name, land value, improvement value (this means any structures on the property), and total assessed value. For comparative purposes, this year's notice will include prior assessed values. This assessment will apply to tax years 2006 and 2007. Please remember that the 2006 general reassessment values will not be available until the reassessment notices are mailed.

Once you receive your reassessment notice, please review it carefully. If you have questions about the reassessment, call the Real Estate Assessment Office at 890-3720 to speak with the appraiser assigned to your area of the County. If you feel your property has been assessed for more than its fair market value, or is not assessed equitably with similar properties in your area, you will be able to address the issue at one of the administrative hearings that will be held in the Real Estate Assessment Office in January. Dates for the administrative hearings are listed on your reassessment notice. Following the administrative hearings, the Board of Equalization, an independent panel appointed by the Judge of the

Tabb High School was the place. Sunday, September 25 was the date. And the event was "York Katrina Benefit Day" - over five hours of games, concessions, entertainment, raffles, and children's activities. The perfect early-autumn weather greeted hundreds of citizens from across the Peninsula that stopped by for an hour, two hours, or the entire benefit! When the last note was sung, the last popcorn popped, and all the money counted, nearly $12,000 had been raised for the American Red Cross to benefit the victims of Hurricane Katrina. Donations are still being accepted at P.O. Box 1, Yorktown, VA,

Drainageway Maintenance - An Ongoing Concern

Maintaining our drainageways is a major concern in York County. As such, the County's Drainage and Mosquito Control division works to maintain ditches twice a year on a district by district basis. Unfortunately, too many homeowners complicate this maintenance program by dumping yard waste and trash into ditches. This debris leads to clogged ditches and pipes which lead to flooding, further leading to a mosquito problem in the warmer months. The County has a yard debris collection program. Call 890-3780 for more information. It's important for residents to remember that when it's determined that a resident has dumped debris in a County easement drainageway, a notice is sent to that person requiring that they remove the debris. If the debris remains, the County will remove it and send the bill to that resident!

If you have any questions about ditch maintenance in your area, call 890-3791 or visit www.yorkcounty.gov/eds/index.htm where maintenance lists are shown by district.

School Board Looks at Enrollment for Zoning / CIP Decisions

Despite rumors of a potential real estate bust, housing is expected to continue to rise in York County over the next few years. The York County School Division is already preparing for an anticipated increase in student enrollment by rezoning land allocated for planned developments and adding school expansion projects to the Capital Improvements Program.

In their October meeting, the York County School Board voted to rezone students who would live in the proposed Lakewood development, to be built off of Denbigh Boulevard, for Dare Elementary School. Previously zoned for Yorktown Elementary, the area was rezoned to prevent additional overcrowding at the school. In order to accommodate the additional students at Dare, a $2.2 million expansion project has been proposed as a part of the 2007-2012 Capital Improvements Program. The project would begin in 2008 in time to accommodate the new students. The Board is rezoning the land before houses are built instead of needing to rezone students later.

The north end of the county is facing a similar situation, with Creekside Landing slated to add 95 new homes. This land is zoned for Magruder Elementary and rezoning options are limited because Waller Mill Elementary is already over capacity. Instead, the School Board proposed $2.7 million in improvements for Magruder Elementary to include additional classrooms and HVAC repairs. The school had previously been approved for roof repairs, repaving and a new gym floor.

Both of these new developments are in addition to anticipated population growth within the county. Many construction and renovation projects are already in place to handle expected school population increases. More information on this or other budget information, can be found on the York County School Division website at <http://yorkcountyschools.org>. The School Board is set to approve the CIP at its December 5 meeting.

What Happens If It Snows?

With winter fast approaching, there is one question on the mind of every school-age child – “Do you think it will snow today?” What happens when it snows and how will you know whether or not to send your child to the bus stop on a snowy morning?

The York County School Division has an efficient policy in place to determine whether a “snow day” should be called and to keep parents informed of school delays and closings.

A road assessment team evaluates the road at all ends of the county to determine the safety of travel. This team then makes a recommendation to the superintendent who decides whether or not school should be closed by 5:30 a.m.

As soon as the decision is made, many communication tools are utilized by the school division to ensure accurate and timely notification for parents.

Connect-Ed, YCSD's new telephone notification system, will send out a message indicating the closure or delay of school to all phone numbers on file for a student. To find out if your phone numbers are up to date, please contact your child's school.

y-Line messages are also sent to all subscribers who selected to receive emergency email announcements from the school division. To sign up for the y-Line or to update your notification preferences, visit <http://yorkcountyschools.org>.

Information will also be updated on the school's website (<http://yorkcountyschools.org>) and on the main phone line (898-0300) if school will be delayed or closed on a particular day.

These same notification procedures are also used if severe weather occurs after the school day has begun. The school division tries to provide at least two hours notice to parents if school will close before the designated time.

For more information on YCSD's policies for weather-related closings, visit <http://yorkcountyschools.org/emergency/weather.htm>

Living History: The Yorktown Snowflower Tree

It is the original and official Signature Tree of the York County 2007 Planning Committee. It is also the official tree of the Jamestown 2007 Commemoration. And it is one of the best, most beautiful, and carefree trees you can plant on the Virginia Peninsula. Yet, up until its recent formal adoption by the York County Board of Supervisors as the official York County tree, most people had never heard of it.

It is called "The Yorktown Snowflower Tree." Its scientific name is Chionanthus virginicus which means "snow and flower from Virginia." Other common names are Fringe Tree and Old Man's Beard. But the only thing common about this tree is its nicknames.

In spring, the tassel-like white looms literally smother the tree and its long, light green leaves. The fragrance has been compared to vanilla cookies. Female trees will form blue berries, a favorite of songbirds. The tree is extremely disease resistant and it will grow happily in sun or even part shade.

The Yorktown Snowflower Tree's small stature has a big advantage. This is a great "hurricane" tree. It is small enough that if it does blow down, not only is it unlikely to take a roof or a power line with it, but also the home or business owner can probably stand it back up with the help of just one other person. The tree will take minor flooding from a hurricane, but it will also handle some drought.

Planting a Yorktown Snowflower Tree will do more than just beautify York County - it will serve as a tribute to Yorktown, Jamestown 2007, and the Historic Triangle by offering current residents the opportunity to plant their own small piece of living history.

For information on where to buy The Yorktown Snowflower Tree, contact the Cooperative Extension Office at 890-4940.

Fire and Life Safety: Rising Energy Costs May Trigger More Heating Fires

Caution Urged with Supplemental Heating Devices

With the recent rise in fuel costs, it is estimated that heating costs could be well above those of previous winters. The Department of Fire and Life Safety would like to warn citizens of the risks involved when residents attempt to find economical ways to heat their homes. The National Fire Protection Association (NFPA) recently released the following warning: "The substantially increased cost to heat your home this winter might drive you to use supplemental heating sources whenever possible. Fireplaces and space heaters can make a room toasty, but the NFPA urges consumers to use caution when using these devices by thinking fire-safety first. . . Based on frequency of use, space heaters pose a higher risk of fire and fire death than central heating."

According to the NFPA, back in 2002 there were 45,500 home heating fires reported in the U.S. (see chart below). Of those there were 220 deaths, 990 injuries and $449 million in damage. Thankfully, those numbers declined over recent years; however, with gas and oil prices rising sharply, many people will turn to supplemental heating devices and the numbers of fires, deaths, injuries, and costs may well increase.

Be sure every level of your home has a working smoke detector that is checked and cleaned monthly and batteries replaced at least once a year. A working smoke detector functions as an early warning system and reduces your risk of death. Also, have a home escape plan and practice it throughout the year.

It is also recommended by the Department of Fire and Life Safety that homes install a carbon monoxide detector. The Journal of the American Medical Association reports that carbon monoxide - a colorless, odorless, tasteless, and nonirritating by-product of combustion - is the leading cause of accidental poisoning deaths in America. Install a detector near the sleeping area of your home. Carbon monoxide has been called "the silent killer." Don't let it get you while you sleep! Inspect appliances and heating systems annually. Don't start your car in your attached garage to warm it up this winter without opening the garage door for ventilation.

For more information on keeping your family and home safe this winter, call the Department of Fire and Life Safety at 890-3600, Monday through Friday from 8:15 a.m. to 5 p.m. In emergencies, always dial 911.

Causes of Reported Heating Fires / Deaths - 2002

Fireplaces/Chimneys	43% / 11%
Fixed/Portable Space Heaters (incl. woodstoves)	25% / 74%
Central Heating	19% / 10%

Most fireplace and chimney fires were caused by creosote buildup. The leading cause of space heater fires was combustibles too close to the heaters. Central heating fires were primarily caused by mechanical failures or malfunctions. Source: NFPA

This was truly a community event. Big Top Entertainment, owned and operated by David and Julianne Kiedinger, provided all children's games, rides, tents and the stage (including people to operate them), and the York Town Crier newspaper advertised the event. Many civic organizations came out in a big way too. Any group that provided supplies did so at its own expense. Participants included: Boy Scouts, Knights of Columbus, York Lions Club, York Civitan Club, York Ruritan Club, Kiwanis Clubs of Grafton, Kiln Creek, Poquoson, Tabb and York, the York County Chamber of Commerce, the York Exchange Club, the York County Youth Commission and the York County D.A.R.E. The Victory Family YMCA gathered items from local businesses and ran a raffle. The County and School Division worked alongside these community groups providing administrative and logistical support. Everyone involved agreed the event was a great success.

Katrina Benefit Day was full of entertainers as well who donated their time. L.P. Butler, a long time County resident who was the first to come forward with the idea for the benefit, arranged for the participation of all the entertainers. The Fifes and Drums of York Town, always a treat to watch perform, started everything off. The United States military was represented by the Langley Air Force Base Honor Guard presenting the colors. Julianne Smith Kiedinger sang a patriotic rendition of the Star Spangled Banner. Other entertainers included L.P. & Company, Lynda Smith & Live Wire, Bill & Pam Gurly with Jimmy Masters, Percy Ironmonger's Super Jazz Band, and a special visit from New Orleans' very own Steamboat Willie, a famous trumpeter. Many of the younger citizens in the crowd enjoyed the hayride courtesy of David Cianelli.

The generosity of those who attended and donated money, most of whom had already given to previous fundraisers was greatly appreciated. All proceeds went directly to the Red Cross. No one was reimbursed for out of pocket expenses. A big thanks is deserved by those who donated the time and materials to make this event possible!

Floods: Insurance, Safety, and More

York County is part of the Community Rating System program through FEMA that allows for reduced cost flood insurance for residents of the County. This program is part of the National Flood Insurance Program that requires residents within the 100-year floodplain to have flood insurance. Residents who reside outside that floodplain may also obtain flood insurance at the reduced rate, but it is not mandatory. To find out if you are in the 100-year floodplain, visit the County's website at www.yorkcounty.gov and click on "Property Information System" to view the Flood Insurance Rate Maps (FIRM). These maps indicate various flood zones with a base flood elevation given for the 100-year floodplain. This means that all new construction in these areas must have the first floor constructed above that elevation. FIRM maps were first prepared in 1974 and revised in 1982. The latest flood map effective date is December 16, 1988. The Department of Environmental and Development Services, 105 Service Drive in Yorktown, keeps paper copies of these maps. For directions or more information, call 890-3752.

One important note: If your property is not shown to be within the 100-year or even 500-year flood zone, please don't assume that your property might not flood. Flooding can occur for a combination of reasons: Pipes sized for an average 10-year rainfall may not be able to handle large quantities of rainfall (i.e. tropical storm, hurricane or even a bad nor'easter) or blockages in pipes and ditches may block the drainage system (residents need to ensure that leaves, grass clippings and other debris are removed from ditches and away from their banks).

Everyone knows that we live in a low-lying area and depend on our ditches or small streams to carry rainfall produced by most storms. But during extreme storms, such as a 100-year storm, these channels can become overfilled and spread along the banks in an area known as the floodplain. The elevations indicated in the designated floodplains is the point above sea level that the water is expected to reach. Unfortunately, too often items are left in the floodplain and these are then carried downstream and eventually block the flow of water. Although the County periodically checks these outfalls for blockages, homeowners should do their part to keep their ditches and areas nearby free of debris or any items that may float. You may request assistance from the Department of Environmental and Development Services in evaluating your flood problem and explaining ways to stop flooding or prevent flood damage. Call the department at 890-3752.

Not sure if you're covered for floods? Check with your insurance agent to see if your policy covers damage from floods. Many do not. But since York County is a part of the NFIP program, you can purchase a separate flood insurance policy. You may have purchased flood insurance as required by your bank when you received your mortgage or home improvement loan; however, often these policies only cover the structure and not the contents. Be proactive and call your agent today! You cannot wait for the next flood threat to purchase insurance: There is a 30-day waiting period before NFIP coverage takes effect.

Business Licenses Due March 1

Applications to renew York County Business Licenses will be mailed the first week of January. To avoid penalties and interest for late filing and late payment, the application and tax must be filed and paid on or before March 1.

If you filed a Schedule C or Schedule C-EZ, "Profit or Loss from a Business," with your Federal Income Tax Return, you are considered engaged in business and required to obtain a York County Business License.

If you indicate on Line E that your business is located at a York County address and you have not obtained a York County Business License, you are in violation of state and County laws. If Line E is left blank, and your mailing address on the front of your Income Tax Return indicates York County, it is presumed that your business is operating in York County. Placing the correct business location on Line E should ensure that only Schedule C's with a York County business address will be reviewed and will not affect your mailing address.

If you need an application or more information, call 890-3383 or email revofc@yorkcounty.gov. Information is also available at the website at www.yorkcounty.gov/revenue.

Flood Zones

Zone V - Coastal flood with wave action; no base flood elevation determined.

Zone VE - Coastal flood with wave action; base elevations determined.

Zone A - 100-year flood with no elevation determined.

Zone AE - 100-year flood with base elevation determined.

Zone X (shaded and adjacent to 100-year zone) - 500-year flood; areas of 100-year flood with average depths less than one foot or drainage areas less than one square mile.

Flood Prevention

- Do not dump anything into pipes, ditches and streams. The County has a leaf collection program during the autumn months. Call 890-3780.
- If your property is next to a ditch or stream, keep the banks clear of brush and debris.
- If you see someone dumping debris into a ditch, or simply notice that a ditch contains trash and other items, call 890-3752 to report the location.
- Check with Building Regulation (890-3522) before your build on, alter or regrade your property. A permit may be needed to ensure that the project doesn't cause problems for your neighbors! If you see building or filling going on without a County permit posted, call the number above to report the location.

Flood Safety Tips

- Do not walk through flowing water – even six inches of moving water can knock you off your feet. Use a stick or pole when you walk through standing water to be sure the ground is still there!
- Do not drive through a flooded area – more people drown in their cars than anywhere else.
- Stay away from power lines and electrical wires – the number two killer after drowning is electrocution. Report downed power lines to the power company or call 911.
- Have your electricity turned off by the power company – some appliances keep electrical charges even after they have been unplugged. Don't use appliances or motors that have gotten wet unless they have been taken apart, cleaned and dried.
- Look before you step – there will be debris (nails, glass, etc.) everywhere after a flood. Also, floors and stairs can be slippery following a flood.
- Be alert for gas leaks – use a flashlight to inspect for damage. Never light a cigarette, candle, lantern or other open flame unless you know the gas has been turned off and the area well ventilated.

Circuit Court, will conduct hearings to address concerns of property owners who feel their property has not been fairly assessed. Information on this process is available at 890-3720.

The Code of Virginia requires that all property be assessed at 100% of its fair market value. The law also requires that similar properties have a similar assessment. As has been indicated recently, the local residential real estate market has been and continues to appreciate at a rapid pace. Any recent sales of comparable property within your neighborhood are used as the basis for determining any changes in assessed value for 2006 and 2007. Listed at right you will find examples of recent sales of residential properties in York County. These are a few examples of the rapid change in selling prices that will affect assessed values for the 2006 general reassessment. The purpose of this list is to give a general indication of the potential for change in assessed values for residential properties for tax years 2006 and 2007 county-wide. The degree of change for individual neighborhoods can vary greatly depending upon the current sales in those areas.

The Code also states that property information contained within our files is public information and, therefore, available for public review. Complete property information is available on the newly expanded website at www.yorkcounty.gov and in the Real Estate Assessment Office located on the second floor of the Finance Building, 120 Alexander Hamilton Boulevard, Yorktown. Real estate sales information (indexed by neighborhood) is updated monthly and available to the public in the Real Estate Assessment Office.
